

Sally Kupp, RN, BScN

Sally Kupp is a registered nurse working on the Overdose Emergency Response team at Vancouver Coastal Health as the clinical educator. She teaches on topics such as overdose prevention and naloxone training, helps write policies and procedures to support staff within Vancouver Coastal Health, trains peers, and does front line training and clinical support for staff working at the Overdose Prevention Sites and the Supervised Injection Sites. She also collaborates with other organizations like the Vancouver Area Network of Drug Users and the BCCDC to develop best practices for the overdose response.